

In an Australian blog called "Eco-Warrior" you have found an entry about rainforests that you would like to comment on.

12 April, 19:01

AussieMate

Something to think about

Why should I care about rainforests thousands of kilometres away from my home? We've got enough environmental problems in our own country!

Just think about our poor koalas – they are losing more and more of their habitat every single day.

Comments welcome

In your blog comment you should:

- state what you think about AussieMate's views
- discuss why it is important to care for rainforests
- point out what you are personally prepared to do to save the planet

Write around 250 words.